Dr. Clark Yost Remains Active After Retirement

CLARK YOST: For a long time I'd wanted to look up Dr. Clark H. Yost at Eldorado and do a bit about him. I've admired the retired Methodist minister's writings for some time now (he has an item in the Globe-Democrat's Mail Bag quite often).

But I got beat to the draw by praisation. Or I should say The Eldorado Journal. This paper had an article about the retired Methodist minister who at one time was president of McKendree college.

When Dr. Yost was 62 years old—back on May 15, 1952—he was stricken by a massive thrombosis, the article says, from which physicians were doubtful of his recovery. He was retired from the ministry at the annual conference of the Methodist church while a patient in Barnes hospital at St. Louis, and, on the advice of his doctors, was not told of the action for three weeks.

A visitor who slipped past the family and the nurse almost gave out the information when Dr. Yost asked him how many ministers were retired and got the answer "Eleven," the article relates.

Dr. Yost, who was chairman of the conference pastoral committee, remarked:

"That's strange. I recommended only ten for retirement."

THE ARTICLE continues: "When Mrs. Yost told him of his retirement by the conference, he accepted the situation, immediately became reconciled and began to plan his future. For months he was confined to his bed and nine months after he was stricken, Dr. Yost left home for the first time to attend Easter services."

At Eldorado, he is active in the First Methodist church, where he teaches a Sunday school class of business and professional women which he says is the best class he has ever known.

He was a pastor in the coal fields of southern Illinois during the depression of the thirties. Nearly every person of means where he resided became poor and many persons went on relief. School teachers were paid in orders which they gave for 50 cents on the dollar for food and clothing.

"Dr. Yost," the article continues, says that he was born on a rented

Year Book Helps Solve Theft At Court House

Three Eldorado Women Picked Up After $117 Stolen

A high school year book played the big part in solving the theft at the Saline county court house of a purse containing $117.

Stolen was the purse of Lee Rusher, employed in abstracting work at a typewriter in the court house corridor. Her purse, which was lying on a table, was stolen last Thursday while she was working nearby.

Picked up by county officers yesterday were Georgia King, about 22, Phyllis Pittenturf, 22, and Shirley Seagraves, 17, all of Eldorado.

Sheriff William T. Barrett said the case was solved through a McLeansboro high school annual. After the theft was reported a girl from McLeansboro who also works at abstracting said she recognized one of three girls in the court house that same afternoon as a "Georgia Allen," who went to high school with her. Officers made a comprehensive check and could find nobody of that name.

Money Not Recovered

The girl then brought the 1952 year book down to Harrisburg with her and her picture was readily recognized by Barrett and Deputy James Lyon as Georgia King of Eldorado.

When picked up, Mrs. King denied taking the purse, but admitted that she and the other two had been in the court house that day. The other two, when arrested, readily admitted knowing of the theft, but said that Mrs. King did the stealing. The Pittenturf woman said that when she learned that the purse was going to be picked up, she got scared and ran across the street to a store.

However, the two admitted they got part of the money, the Pittenturf woman $10 and Shirley Seagraves $25. They also said that Mrs. King gave $25 to her brother-in-law, Donald King of Eldorado, to be applied on a fine he owed at New Shawneetown. They charged, too, that Mrs. King burned the purse. None of the money has been recovered.

Mrs. Herman T. Towle Dies

Funeral Will Be Friday 2 p. m. at Presbyterian Church

Mrs. Loudene Towle died at 11:50 a. m. today at Lightner hospital. She had been seriously ill for two weeks.

Mrs. Towle was the wife of Herman T. Towle, pioneer clothing merchant who survives. They would have been married 55 years on New Year's Day. The daughter, Mrs. W. and Sophia Karnes, she and Mr. Towle were married on New Year's Day, 1901.

C. W. Bishop to Run for Congress

CARTERVILLE, Ill. (U.P.)—A former congressman from the 25th Illinois Congressional District will seek the Republican nomination next spring.

Former Rep. C. W. Bishop of Carterville announced today he will be a candidate in the spring primary. So far, no other persons have expressed their intention to run for the GOP nomination.

Bishop was elected to the House of Representatives from the southern Illinois district in 1940 and served seven terms until his defeat by Rep. Kenneth Gray in 1954. Gray, a West Frankfort Democrat, has not announced whether he will seek a second term.

Since losing his seat in Congress, Bishop has been a consultant to the Post Office Department in Washington.

CHRIST IN CHRISTMAS—One of the most outstanding Christmas decorations is on the lawn of the Southeastern Electric Co-op on Route 142, east of Eldorado, with both the religious and secular theme of Christmas used, but Christ occupies the most prominent position and everything else is in background. A huge altar, with a cross and large figure of Christ at the top, flanked by twelve electric candles, six on each side, can be seen for long distances and has attracted lots of attention. The altar is built of wood and painted white and spotlighted by strong lights. Completing the colorful decorations are many colored lights in the shrubbery at the front of the REA building and over the display windows is Santa Claus in his sleigh, driving his reindeer, with Rudolph, complete with red nose, in the lead. The altar was blueprinted by Charley Jones and Herman Lands did the carpentry. Both are regular REA employees. (Daily Register Staff Photo)

Two Dead, Three Injured in Crash at Carmi

Mrs. Levine Blackwell, Carmi, Edwardsville Man Fatally Injured

CARMI, Ill. — A Carmi woman and an Edwardsville, Ill., man were killed yesterday in a head-on crash on Route 1 at the west edge of Carmi, Tuesday afternoon.

Killed were Mrs. Levine Blackwell, 23, Carmi, and Phillip Farley, 43, Edwardsville.

Three other persons were hurt seriously: Ernest, 32-year-old husband of the dead woman, and their two children, Taylor Glenn, 3, and Jacqueline Kay, 1. All are in Carmi Township hospital.

Blackwell suffered a broken leg and numerous lacerations. Both legs of the little boy were broken and he sustained a fractured left arm. The baby's skull was fractured.

The crash occurred at 3 p. m. and Mrs. Blackwell died at 4 p. m. Farley's death came at 4:30.

Officers quoted Blackwell as saying that Farley pulled into the left lane of traffic. Both cars were demolished.

Blackwell works for the Ray Wiley Drilling Co. of Carmi.

Mrs. Blackwell's body was taken to the Carmi funeral home. Surviving are the husband and the two children; a sister, Mrs. Doyle Christy of Norris City, and her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Wilborn, also of Norris City.

Cook County Files $56,139 Tax Delinquency Suit Against the WCTU

CHICAGO (U.P.) — Cook County officials filed a tax delinquency suit of $56,139 against the Women's Christian Temperance Union. It charged that the training of anti-liquor missionaries at the society's Evanston headquarters does not make it tax exempt.

Constellation Hits Almost In Back Yards

12 Passengers, Crew Of Five Burned Beyond Recognition

JACKSONVILLE, Fla. (U.P.) — Seventeen persons were carried to sudden death early today in an Eastern Airlines Constellation that crashed and exploded almost in the back yards of residences bordering Municipal Airport here.

All aboard the Miami to New York plane—12 passengers and 5 crew members—were killed and charred beyond recognition by gasoline-fed flames that seared the 199-yard bulldozing path of the stricken aircraft.

There was also a body on the plane, identified as that of C. D. Thrift, an Eastern Airlines accounting employee. It was being shipped to Washington for burial. Passengers were enroute to Washington, New York and Boston.

The plane was coming into the Jacksonville airport for a routine instrument landing. Cause of the crash was unexplained.

John Ingle, local EAL manager, said that one of many rumors and reports that "undoubtedly will be checked," came from an unidentified airlines pilot who said the sound of jet planes was heard in the vicinity just before the crash. The Jacksonville control tower said it had no contact with any other planes at the time.

The four-engine plane was on air coach service and an airlines official in Miami said this just happened to be a slack pre-Christmas week for north-bound flights. Any other week the plane probably would have carried up to 60 passengers.

The airliner crashed in a wooded area, clipped off tree-tops at the 25 foot level, then bored 66 yards through the trees and hit the ground.

The charred remains of those aboard were taken to Jacksonville mortuaries. They could be identified at the scene only by sex.

Then began the grim task by postal inspectors and airline personnel of picking up the few pitiful belongings that were not burned to ashes.

The crash was Eastern Airlines' first major disaster since Nov. 1, 1949, when 55 persons died in the collision of one of its planes with a fighter plane over Washington's National Airport.

The airline said that from that date until today it had flown 453,309,841 plane miles, carrying 24,472,827 passengers for nearly 15,000,000,000 passenger miles with only two fatalities.

The huge four-engine plane, making an apparent routine landing approach to the airport, smashed into the ground less than 50 feet from two houses in the Hollow Ford community, a suburb of Jacksonville, on the southwest side of the airport.

"The plane practically went thru our back yards," Mrs. A. T. Collins said.

Third Air Disaster
The tragedy, third air disaster in Florida within a week, happened in the space of a few ticking seconds at 3:46 a. m. EST and brought residents in the area out of their sleep with two explosions that ripped the plane apart as it bored its way through a wooded area, spewing flames in its path.

John Ingle, manager of the airline in Jacksonville, said the charred hull was in perfect lineup for an instrument approach to the airport and apparently no trouble was anticipated. He said the crew sent no distress message.

Authorities were still investigating the other Florida crashes when the new one occurred.

In one accident near Tampa two six jet B47 bombers slammed together at about 15 thousand feet altitude killing four men in each plane.

Less than four hours later a propeller-driven B29 bomber on a practice mission collided in the air with an F86 Sabre jet fighter above Panama City, Fla., killing at least three men whose bodies were recovered.

Regional employees speculated that the toyshop mixed the voice boxes earmarked for the Smokey bear and the dolls.

One of the bearlike voice boxes was sure to end up in one of the dainty "praying" dolls, they calculated.

And they feared it was bound to make whoever got the doll with the gruff voice mighty unhappy on Christmas Day.

The DAILY WASHINGTON
MERRY-GO-ROUND
By DREW PEARSON

DREW PEARSON Says:
Brooklyn Congressman Dubois
About Sending Surplus
Food Abroad; FCC's Long
Persecution Of TV Station
Owner Fizzles; U. S. Amba-
sador To India Miffed Over Dulles' Goa Statement.

WASHINGTON. — Brooklyn-
bred Congressman Victor L. Anfuso (D., N. Y.) is a city boy who can't tell a silo from a threshing machine. Though not a farmer, Anfuso is, nevertheless, a member of the House Agricultural committee and is just back from Rome, where he and Rep. Clifford Hope (R., Kan.) served as official delegates to the United Nations Food and Agricultural Organization.

Charged with guaranteeing a full dinner pail to all the world's citizens, FAO is coping with a tough problem. For, though the United States has vying food surpluses, the sad fact is that most of the rest of the world is painfully short of calories. Conditions are growing worse, too, with 100,000
new mouths appearing on the scene every day.

Anfuso, nevertheless, found that strong opposition exists to the United States "dumping" food on the world market, whether at cut rates or as charity.

"Poor countries don't want it," says Anfuso, "because they are too proud. And other food-surplus countries raise hob with us for threatening to wreck their markets."

Result: Anfuso had a fine time
in Rome meeting with delegates from 71 countries, but made no progress at all in unloading Secretary Benson's vast food hoard.

The FAO confab was held in the organization's magnificent headquarters in Rome, where it occupies three large buildings erected by the Italian government.

Says Anfuso: "The FAO is trying to develop the purchasing power of the undeveloped countries, which enables them to become buyers on the world market."

"If we can help to fill empty stomachs, then there will be no place for communism in the world. The FAO offers a wonderful opportunity to help bring this about."

Note — This was Anfuso's second trip abroad since Congress adjourning. In September he toured Europe to inspect NATO.

FCC PERSECUTION
Eighteen months of headaches, heartaches and attorney fees for

TV-Station-Owner Edward Lamb
now seem near an end with a ruling by Federal Communications Examiner Sharfman that Lamb is not a Communist and his TV license can be renewed.

The interesting thing, however,
is what happens to the FCC officials who made this charge and who called some of the weirdest witnesses ever seen in Washington to try to prove their case.

Among the witnesses was Mrs.
Marie Natvig, who claimed Lamb
was a Communist, later denied this, later was convicted of perjury. Another witness was Ernest Courcy of Mercer, Wis., who once served five years for murder and who denied having a gun with him
then came back to the witness stand to correct his testimony. He said he had put a gun in his suit case by mistake.

Another witness was William Garfield Cummings, who was shown to have been a bigamist,
who first told FCC investigators Lamb was a Communist, then on the witness stand said he had never said that.

All this mud-slinging Lamb had to undergo. During one early stage of the proceedings, FCC Commissioner Doerfer was brazen
enough to tell him: "It's too bad
you're not a Republican."

Lamb had contributed $5,000 to Adlai Stevenson and was publicized by the Chicago Daily News
as the top Democratic contributor
in the nation.

Lamb is now about to be exonerated. But what happens to the FCC officials who staged 18 months of persecution?

DULLES BLUNDER?
U. S. Ambassador John Sherman Cooper, a former Republican senator from Kentucky who doesn't like to tangle with other Republicans, has sent a bitter secret
cable to the State Department, telling what he thinks of John Foster Dulles' statement on Portuguese Goa.

He reports that Dulles' blunder wiped out all the anti-Russian feeling built up in India as a result of Khrushchev's and Bulganin's blundering.

Cooper had reported earlier that Nehru had been so seriously unsettled over the way Khrushchev and Bulganin took advantage of Indian hospitality to attack the United States that he had made the unusual move of calling in Ambassador Cooper and expressing his indignation. Nehru even sent word to his special envoy in New York, Krishna Menon, to reassure the American people on Indian-U. S. friendship.

Then, on the heels of these friendly assurances, John Foster Dulles let drop his bombshell linking the United States with old-fashioned European colonialism.

Dulles has made a lot of foot-in-mouth statements during his three years as secretary of state, but State Department career diplomats consider this his worst.

Note — Dulles consulted with none of his Asia experts before making his statement, and they are mystified as to why he made
it. If he had conferred with them,
he would have made the statement only over their dead bodies.

DEFENDS DULLES
Rep. Albert P. Morano (R., Conn.) was a voice crying in the wilderness when he jumped to the defense of Secretary of State
Dulles.

Dulles had joined the Portuguese foreign minister in a statement referring to the "Portuguese provinces" in India, thereby angering the Indians who want the Portuguese out of Asia.

The Portuguese foreign minister, Paulo Cunha, will no doubt get a raise in salary for his brilliant diplomacy. But Dulles drew mostly jeers for his classic boo-
boo. However, Morano defended
Dulles.

"Why, Goa has been Portuguese
for 500 years or more," Morano told this column. "I understand the majority of the people there are Portuguese, not Indian."

"I am one of the greatest friends of India and still am,"
said Morano. "I have defended
India in committees of Congress.
I voted for and defended the shipment of economic grants for India."

This column asked Morano if he didn't think the Dulles statement
would make the Indians sore, since they are so afraid of United States interference in their affairs.

Citing past United States aid to India, Morano said that that was
"silly."

"How can they be afraid of us?
I am opposed to colonialism — firmly. But you have to settle the matter of colonialism peacefully and not by force. Why, the first to subscribe to that would be Nehru himself."

"Do you think the Dulles statement will help settle things peacefully?" Morano was asked.

"Absolutely," he declared. "After all, when the foreign minister of a friendly country calls on the secretary of state, you've got to make a statement, haven't you?"

Soviet Leaders
Home from Tour

MOSCOW (AP) — Russia's roving rulers arrived home to a joyous welcome from their month-long Asian tour today and declared they had "exposed the policies of colonizers in Asia."

Communist Party leader Nikita Khrushchev said in a homecoming statement that he and Premier Nikolai Bulganin had found colonial regimes to be a "blot on mankind." He said, in the midst of a welcome by tens of thousands of cheering Russians lining the main streets, that their junketing around India, Burma and Afghanistan had been "useful."

Khrushchev said he and Bulganin
found that India and Russia
"are brothers—in adversity and fortune." The phrase "India and Russia are brothers" was the slogan of their 7,000-mile Indian tour.

Referring to Western denunciations of his anti-British and anti-
American remarks on the tour, Khrushchev said he would "go on saying" that colonial regimes are a "blot" regardless of "hatred" in the bourgeois press.

average production of 3,080,115,000
bushels.

The final wheat estimate, made up of 705,372,000 bushels of winter wheat and 232,787,000 bushels of spring wheat, compares with November estimates of a 915,528,000 bushel crop—689,403,000 bushels of winter wheat and 226,125,000 bushels of spring wheat.

Last year the total wheat harvest was 984,846,000 bushels. It was made up of 804,349,000 bushels of
winter wheat and 180,497,000 bushels of spring wheat. The 10-year average of winter wheat output was 867,390,000 bushels, while spring wheat 10-year average production was 286,683,000 bushels for a total of 1,154,073,000 bushels.

Congress Will Reject Aid
Boost: George

WASHINGTON (AP) — Chairman
Walter F. George of the Senate Foreign Relations Committee predicted today that Congress will reject an administration request to double foreign aid appropriations
next year.

The influential Georgia Democrat was one of a number of congressmen who said the $4,900,000, 000 in foreign aid funds the administration plans to seek will be trimmed sharply.

Secretary of State John Foster
Dulles said Tuesday that Congress would be asked to fix foreign aid appropriations at that level — nearly double this year's allotment — although actual spending would be boosted only by 200 million dollars.

Sees Congress Rejection
"I am satisfied that Congress will not approve any $4,900,000,000 if they (the administration) ask for it," George said at his Vienna, Ga., home.

Sen. Mike Mansfield (D-Mont),
another member of the Foreign Relations Committee, agreed. He said the administration appears to be "overemphasizing the value of dollar aid" and that it is time to re-evaluate both economic and military assistance programs.

Both George and Rep. John Taber (R-N.Y.), ranking Republican on the House Appropriations Committee, said that Dulles' announcement was not in accord with what he told congressional leaders at a recent White House briefing. Taber said he was led to believe the new foreign aid request would be only $2,703,000,000.

Sees Close Study
Rep. Omar Burleson (D-Tex.), a member of the House Foreign Affairs Committee, said the stepped-up appropriation request "to put it mildly, will be looked over very closely."

The congressional complaints
were voiced despite Dulles' warning that foreign aid of more than four billion dollars a year must be maintained for the indefinite future in view of recent cold war developments.

The new appropriation request
would be divided so that three billion dollars would go to military aid and $1,900,000,000 to economic aid.

U. I. to Discontinue Special Courses in Rhetoric for Freshmen

CHICAGO (AP) — The University of Illinois board of trustees today voted to discontinue special courses for freshmen who lack a proper knowledge of rhetoric.

The action will become effective in the fall of 1960.

The U. of I. has given special courses in rhetoric for two decades
to high school graduates who fail to pass a proficiency examination in rhetoric. They now make up the university's largest class.

University spokesmen said that discontinuance of the courses in 1960 would provide time for the state's high schools to improve their work so that college freshmen no longer will need the instruction.

Eden Reshuffles
British Cabinet;
Stress Air Power

LONDON (AP)—Prime Minister Anthony Eden reorganized his cabinet from top to bottom today to meet the threats of inflation at home and new Soviet provocations abroad.

A key feature of the reshuffle
was a decision to stress air power in Britain's armed forces at the expenses of the Army, whose authorized first-line reserve strength was slashed Tuesday from 12 to two divisions.

Four major posts and many minor ones were involved in the reorganization, in which Eden replaced ministers inherited from Winston Churchill with younger men of his own choice. The average age of the cabinet was reduced from 58 to 55 years by the changes.

Chancellor of the Exchequer R.
A. Butler was promoted to lord privy seal and majority leader in the House of Commons, making him in effect deputy prime minister.

Harold Macmillan, whose policies as foreign secretary have been under opposition fire for some time, was shifted to the exchequer post to replace Butler as head of the fight against Britain's ominous inflation.

Defense Secretary Selwyn Lloyd
replaced Macmillan as foreign secretary to lead the diplomatic fight against Russia, and Labor Minister Sir Walter Monckton moved up to the defense post to protect Britain if diplomacy fails.

Health Minister Iain MacLeod
replaced Monckton as labor minister, and was replaced in his turn by R. H. Turton, who is new to the cabinet.

Nigel Birch, a wartime lieutenant colonel in the army, replaced Lord de L'Isle and Dudley as air secretary — a change reflecting Eden's decision that "because of the greatly increased importance of air power" he wants the civilian chief of the branch to be a member of the House of Commons.

Knight Accepts
Stratton Challenge
To Turkey Contest

SACRAMENTO, Calif. (AP)—California's Gov. Goodwin J. Knight accepted the challenge today of Gov. William Stratton of Illinois to participate in the 1956 heaviest turkey contest.

Stratton warned Knight that officials of the Illinois Turkey Growers Assn. assured him that "unless the monsters we have been feeding especially for this contest break out of their 20-foot corral, they will meet all competition" at the National Turkey Federation convention and national dressed turkey show in Chicago Jan. 4-6.

Knight said California's turkeys were "so large, heavy and contented they could not or would not fly over a knee-high corral." He named as "gobbler of majestic proportions now in training" with Oscar Orlopp and Sons, Orosi, Calif., as the state's most logical entrant.

Mrs. Crews, Mrs. Ron Ziegler, Mrs. Bud Adams and Mrs. Bob Kushing, hostesses for the evening, escorted the members to a lovely punch table enhanced by hand-made Christmas candles, golden-sprayed fruit and red sequin napkins. Open faced sandwiches, nuts and mints were served with delicious punch.

Further evidence of the Yuletide season was displayed on the mantle. Flocked candles the height of the mantle which was cleverly designed by Mr. Crews, illuminated the mantle scene of greenery and Christmas ornaments.

The group traveled to Schnierle's cafe where a delicious turkey dinner with all the trimmings was served on the balcony. Replicas of the decoration for the punch table were used as centerpieces at the dinner tables. Individual place cards were held by gilded clothespins adorned with Christmas bells.

Rev. Burroughs Tells Kiwanians of Christmas Customs

Many of the traditions and customs of Christmas were described to members of the Kiwanis club last night by Rev. William Burroughs, pastor of the First Presbyterian church.

Many of the customs and characteristics of celebrations in other nations have been brought to America until there is a variety of customs and symbols in the observance of Christmas.

Traditions of Christmas include the exchange of gifts, decoration with greenery and mistletoe, the Christmas tree, tinsel, Santa Claus, candles, Christmas cards, Christmas carols and the Christmas seals.

The exchange of gifts, derived mostly from the gifts the wise men brought to the Christ child, even goes back farther than that. Rev. Burroughs said. The gift exchange, now big business in this nation, is a good thing, he said, because unfortunate people, and those in institutions also are remembered. It is really a praise service for Christ because there is a warm glow from giving.

The climax to the Christmas celebration is in the big feast, for which turkey is the main dish now, but in early times a boar was the feature of the meal. Different countries have different customs.

The thought of Christmas is like a pudding. Rev. Burroughs said there are many ingredients and many traditions, and who is to say it isn't all good.

R. C. Davenport, cashier of the Harrisburg National bank, is a new member of the Kiwanis club.

Shawneetown, Enfield, Goreville, Joppa Play in Semifinals Tonight

First round play in the Equality Invitational Basketball tournament was completed Tuesday night with Goreville and Joppa the winners. They will meet in the second game of tonight's semifinal session. Shawneetown and Enfield, winners Monday night, will play tonight's first game.

Goreville walloped Equality 79-55 Tuesday night and Joppa edged out with a 56-54 decision over Crab Orchard.

Goreville took the lead early from Equality and was never in trouble, holding a 32-23 halftime advantage and lengthened the advantage to 59-39 after three periods.

Joppa came from behind to nip Crab Orchard in the most thrilling game of the tournament to date. After trailing throughout the first three periods, Joppa made a bid and finally took a 49-48 lead with 2:30 remaining to be played. Crab Orchard came right back to go in front 51-50, the score was then knotted 51-51.

With 30 seconds to play Mathis hit a free throw, missed the second but D. Crim rebounded for a two pointer to put Joppa three points to the good. Mathis then hit another fielder and Joppa was five points in front and just a tick or so left in the game.

Tonight's first game is listed for 6:45 and the nightcap at 8:15. The championship round to be played Thursday will start a little later. The consolation game is scheduled for 7 p. m. and the championship affair at 8:30.

Russia Hinges UN Seat for Japan On Outer Mongolia

UNITED NATIONS, N. Y. — Russia moved in the United Nations Security Council today to make Japan's admission to the world organization conditional upon the admission of Outer Mongolia.

Soviet Delegate Arkady A. Sobolev moved an amendment to a British resolution that declared Japan fully qualified for U. N. membership and expressed the hope that the Tokyo government "will soon be admitted." The Russian sought to tack Outer Mongolia on the resolution.

Russia vetoed Japan's admission in the package membership deal approved last week and Outer Mongolia was vetoed by Nationalist China.

British Delegate Sir Pierson Dixon accused Sobolev of playing "Power politics in a most blatant fashion" by putting "one of the great, established nations against a little country whose qualifications are in doubt."

Russia was expected to use its 16th veto in a week to block the recommendation for Japan if, as expected, the council kills its amendment on Outer Mongolia.

Centralia Man Held For Critically Wounding Companion

CENTRALIA, Ill. (AP) — Basil True, Walnut Hill, was in critical condition in St. Mary's Hospital here today after being shot by a companion.

Hospital authorities said True was wounded three times in the stomach.

His companion, J. V. Winfree, Centralia, was held in jail at Mount Vernon.

Centralia police said Winfree shot True with a .22 caliber rifle as they drove in True's truck near Walnut Hill late Tuesday. Police quoted Winfree as saying the two men had been drinking and he shot True in self defense when he scuffled with him in the truck.

Rothchild Denies Being Near Site Of Alleged Swindle

LONDON, Ky. (AP) — The testimony of defense witnesses continued today in Federal Court in the trial of five men charged in connection with the alleged $50,000 swindle of two Ohio industrial brothers.

Four of the defendants, all charged with using interstate telephone lines with intent to defraud, took the stand Tuesday in their own defense. They were George Hutchison, Louisville, Ky.; George Henson, London, Ky.; Charles Paul Rothchild, Carbondale, Ill.; and Simpson B. Cross, Jackson, Miss.

Henson testified Tuesday that a $100 bill with a serial number corresponding to that of a similar bill taken in the alleged money switching "came from the Second National Bank here."

Kenneth Close, Toledo, Ohio, and his brother, Robert, Bowling Green, Ohio, testified earlier that they recorded the serial numbers of all 50 of the bills they brought here to be exchanged for a promised $100,000 in $1,000 bills.

Hugh Byrd, an FBI agent, testified last week that Henson had $23,100 bills in his wallet when he was arrested. On the witness stand, Henson said, "I carry $2,000 or $3,000 on me lots of times."

Rothchild, a former Cairo, Ill., policeman, said he was nowhere near here last July 28, the date of the alleged swindle. He said he and his wife drove from Illinois to Memphis, Tenn., that day, and then on to Sardis, Miss.

About Town And Country

farm, grew up on a mortgaged farm, served debt-burdened churches for 40 years and was appointed a college president in the depths of the depression when the school, McKendree, was about to be closed. It was overwhelmed with debts for groceries, fuel and supplies and the faculty had not been paid for months. The treasury was empty. Few of the students could pay their tuition or board, and at least 90 per cent of them had to be assisted.

"Problems multiplied during seven years of depression and three years of World War II, when nearly all the students of the college volunteered for the services. Nevertheless, in 1945, Dr. Yost resigned from the presidency of McKendree with all debts paid, a surplus in the treasury, the property improved and salaries increased.

"He returned to the coal fields as a minister in time to be in the community when 119 men were killed on Christmas Eve in a mine disaster at West Frankfort. He spent many hours giving spiritual comfort to the bereaved and helping in any way he could. Later he witnessed the closing of many of the mines, thus leaving a large percentage of the people again unemployed.

"It may be that his experiences have contributed to his lively interest in social, economic and political questions. Could it be that his experiences have also contributed to his coronary thrombosis? While everyone around him doubted that he would live, Dr. Yost had no thought but of recovery. President Eisenhower's attack was comparatively light and Dr. Yost sees no reason why he should not be able to continue as president.

"Being president of a non-state supported college during a depression and a war is much more difficult than being president of the United States," he declared.

Terms of the agreement were not announced, but a company spokesman said the agreement provided for a guaranteed pay plan in the "big ten pattern."

10 Top Stories IN THE Sport Parade

By OSCAR FRALEY
United Press Sports Writer
NEW YORK (AP) — The long frustrated Brooklyn Dodgers, changing their tatters for a tuxedo as they finally reached the end of the glory road, took the headline honors in sports for 1955.

Six times beaten in previous World Series, the beloved Bums turned in the year's outstanding sports feat as they came off the floor to defeat the mighty New York Yankees.

Yet, in analyzing the year's top sports stories, the Dodgers were given a hearty run by Nashua, the bouncing bay beauty from Belair.

Nashua cracked into the big headlines three times. The first was in defeat, when he bowed to Swaps in the Kentucky Derby; the second when he flattened Swaps in a match race, and the third time when he was sold for an all-time record price of $125,000.

Top Ten Stories

- The top 10 sports stories in this corner were:
1. Brooklyn's World Series win.
  2. Nashua's U. S. Open win over Ben Hogan.
  3. Jack Fleck's U. S. Open win over Ben Hogan.
  4. Ray Robinson's comeback.
  5. Rocky Marciano's win over Archie Moore.
  6. Bill Vukovich's Indianapolis death.
  7. Swaps wins Kentucky Derby.
  8. Sale of Nashua.
  9. Laszlo Tabari's 3:59 mile.
  10. Australia's Davis Cup landslide.

This relegates to the also-ran division such top stories as Don Campbell's 216.2 mile per hour speedboat record; the Cleveland Browns' 10th straight division title in pro football; Paul Anderson's world record weight lifting; Honus Wagner's death; Willie Hartack's 400 plus riding victories; Cary Middecoff's Master triumph, and Doug Ford's PGA victory.

Negro Player Boomed for Poor Sportsmanship

NEW ORLEANS (AP) — White fans booed a visiting Negro player Tuesday night for refusing to accept a congratulatory pat on the back from players of the opposing team when he left an unsegregated college basketball game.

The player, Shelle McMillon of Bradley University, had fouled out of the game between his team and Loyola University of New Orleans.

But McMillon, who had objected to previous foul rulings, angrily waved them off. Then he turned to the mixed crowd and stuck his tongue out at them.

The white fans booed and hissed. The band struck up "Dixie."

McMillon, one of the few Negroes ever permitted to play with whites in major collegiate athletics in the South, had contributed 11 points to favored Bradley's 71-65 loss to Loyola.

As the lanky Negro finally left the court with eight minutes left to play the booing and hissing gave way to a chant to the tune of "Bye-Bye, Blackbird."

Loyola officials who pioneered desegregation of athletics at this site of a Negro's prospective controversial participation in the Sugar Bowl football game, declined to comment on the incident.

The university, a Roman Catholic institution, first lowered the South's color line on players in its home basketball games and last year ended segregation of spectators.

Thus far, all-white Loyola's games with teams bringing Negro players have been sole major exceptions to strict segregation of collegiate athletics here, as in the rest of the deep South.

Last year Boston College brought a Negro player to the Sugar Bowl game with Tennessee but he did not go on the field.

Loyola next week meets San Francisco University, whose top player is a Negro, a native of Monroe, La.

Cost of Living Edges Upward

WASHINGTON (AP) — The cost of living edged up again last month. The government report said today that price rises on 1956 autos and other items more than offset declining food prices.

The report also showed that average factory take home pay reached a new record level for the third straight month and that the purchasing power of average factory pay also set a new record.

The Bureau of Labor Statistics said its consumer price index climbed .1 of 1 per cent to reach 115 per cent of average 1947-49 prices for the first time since August, 1954.

Two Thunderjets Crash in Azores; One Pilot Is Killed

ANGRA DO HEROISMO, Azores (AP) — Two U. S. Air Force F84 Thunderjets crashed within minutes of each other Tuesday night. One pilot died in the flaming wreckage of his plane, the other parachuted to safety.

The two planes were in a formation of four jets believed enroute to the joint American-Portuguese air base from Newfoundland.

Bull Dogs Blow Lead In Final Minutes as Carbondale Wins, 58-56

The Harrisburg Bull Dogs blew a six-point lead in the last three minutes to lose last night at Carbondale, 58-56, in a non-loop cage tilt.

Harrisburg held a 54-48 lead but Carbondale's Lovelace started plunking in baskets from the outside and the lead dwindled, the Terriers going ahead 58-56 with a minute and ten seconds left. They stalled nearly all the last minute but with four seconds left Don McGowan broke up a pass and dribbled to the local basket, where he was covered and could not shoot. He passed out to Wayne Stone just as the game ended.

The game was very close all the way, the lead exchanging several times. Carbondale led 15-11 at the quarter and the count was tied 25-25 at the half. Harrisburg was ahead 44-40 at the end of the third quarter.

Big guns for Harrisburg were the two forwards, Wayne Stone, junior who made 26 points for the evening's scoring honors, and Tony Beal, husky senior who made 17. Both boys played remarkable floor games, too.

Bull Pups Win

The preliminary tilt saw the Bull Pups trail until the last three and a half minutes of the game, when they jumped into the lead and increased it to a 59-47 victory. Carbondale was ahead 11-8 at the quarter, 25-16 at the half and 40-34 at the end of the third quarter.

Hassett had 17 points, Henshaw 15, Walker 7, Biggs 6, Kane 5, Pickford and Yates 4 each and Price 1. The Bull Dogs now are awaiting the Egyptian holiday tourney at Mt. Vernon next week, when they play Edwardsville the first night.

AFRICAN VIOLET COLLECTION—Mrs. Otis Stone, Galatia Rt. 2, has a large collection of African violets which bloom profusely and she attributes their flourishing condition to placement which is in a large east window in the sunroom at the Stone home. There they receive just the required amount of sun to accommodate their growing habits. And said Mrs. Stone, "I never let them get very dry and I talk to them every day." Mrs. Stone acquired a few pots of violets about five years ago and has added to them until she has all colors and all kinds excepting the new double pink. Her "green thumb" is used mainly to produce these beautiful plants as a hobby and as gifts for friends of her and Mr. Stone. (Register Staff Photo)

Canada Pulp Industry Sets Record in 1954

OTTAWA (AP)—Canada's pulp and paper industry set a new record in 1954 with a gross value of $1,241,588,000 for its products, compared with $1,179,655,000 in 1953, the Bureau of Statistics said today.

Newspaper production reached a peak of 6,001,000 tons, valued at $657,487,000, against 5,775,000 tons valued at $633,408,000 in 1953.

Santa Claus, Ind., Heads for Best Christmas

SANTA CLAUS, Ind. (AP)—The little town of Santa Claus appeared headed for its biggest and best Christmas on record today.

With Santa Claus' big day only four days away, residents reported the number of sight-seers and the volume of mail handled at the local post office were both running at a near-record pace.

Once again, this little southern Indiana village has become one of the most important places on the map for the duration of the Christmas season. Letters from all over the world pour into the post office so that they can be relayed with the "Santa Claus" postmark on the envelopes.

Postmaster Elbert S. Reinke, the "Santa Claus of Santa Claus," said from 8,000 to 10,000 letters are receiving the famous postmark every day and the peak of the rush is yet to be reached.

He expects a daily load of 125,000 pieces of mail before Christmas is over.

Reinke also announced that a 9-year-old Rocky Point, N. Y., boy, Noel Baxter, has been chosen as honorary mayor of Santa Claus for 1956. Noel was chosen in a nationwide contest open to all children who were born on Christmas Eve or Christmas Day.

The village of Santa Claus owes its nationwide fame to the fact that its original name was too common.

Back in 1852, the village was called Santa Fe. But, when the villagers petitioned for a post office, the postal department turned them down. There was already a Santa Fe station in Indiana and another would simply confuse people, it said.

The villagers consulted again and chose Santa Claus. As a result, the town is one of the most famous communities in the nation around Christmas time and tons of mail flood the post office.

A 40-ton statue of Santa Claus has been erected to greet the holiday tourists. There is also a Christmas fairland, complete with a candy castle and a wishing well.

Milk is Most Popular Food, GI Poll Shows

CHICAGO (AP)—Milk is the favorite food of GIs, an Army food preference study showed today.

Milk, often proclaimed the "perfect food," rates ahead of steak, roast beef and fried chicken in popularity among soldiers, the study showed.

The least liked item on Army menus is iced coffee.

The survey was conducted among more than 45,000 servicemen by the Quartermaster Food and Container Institute, an Army organization whose research is made available to all the armed forces.

Among other things, the institute is trying to cut down the food griping among GIs and improve morale with tastier menus.

Some Interesting Facts

The institute's food acceptance division has been distributing detailed questionnaires to GIs for the last five years, and has checked about 400 food items for popularity, or lack of it.

In addition to the questionnaires, the institute conducts laboratory tests of foods with the aid of professional tasters.

The questionnaires have disclosed some interesting facts. Lunch meats, much maligned in World War II under the all-inclusive term, "spam," rate fairly well now.

"There's a new generation of GIs," a spokesman said. "And the quality of lunch meats has improved. Some of the stuff we got during the war was pretty bad."

Among the most unpopular food items are turnips, squash, rutabaga and parsnips.

Among the most popular are fried chicken, steak, roast beef and hot biscuits.

Vegetables Cause Complaints
Vegetables apparently cause more complaints than anything else. Fruits, desserts and meats offer relatively few problems.

The study disclosed many likes and dislikes based on regional factors. Southerners, for example, liked black-eyed peas and turnip greens better than anyone else, although both items ranked far down the list and weren't too palatable even for some Southerners.

New Englanders liked lamb better than anyone else, but even they don't rave about New England boiled dishes, the study showed.

Soluble coffee seemed to be disliked in all parts of the country, although laboratory taste tests gave it a good rating.

"Soluble coffee tastes good," a spokesman said, "but the boys must feel they're getting gyped when they have to drink it instead of regular coffee."

At one post, GIs averaged a quart and a half of milk a day. Milk was popular regardless of the region, age and educational factors.

Stratton Proclaims January 'March of Dimes Month' in Illinois

SPRINGFIELD (AP)—Gov. William G. Stratton today proclaimed January "March of Dimes Month" in Illinois and appealed to the "generosity and self interest" of Illinois citizens for contributions to the National Foundation for Infantile Paralysis.

Stratton's proclamation said "the Salk polio vaccine comes too late for tens of thousands of Americans who need continued care in overcoming the crippling effects" of polio.

GREAT Circle

BY ROBERT CARSE

THE STORY: Capt. Jered Naish, a new hand at whaling, sails to the South Atlantic with a motley crew and brutal officers. The fourth mate, James Blageen, is also from a merchantman and Naish is instructing him in navigation. Naish has a distaste for William Blageen, the steward.

IX

William Blageen opened the slops chest in the pantry at his order in the morning. "Let's see the price list, steward," he said.

"Aye, aye, sir," Blageen said affably. "Go fetch it, Alf."

But the boy was slow in coming back and the men had begun to file down from on deck, their after-breakfast pumping and swabbing done. Naish became impatient. "Serve them," he told Blageen. "Just keep a tally of what's sold. I'll arrange the prices later."

"Capt'n, sir," Blageen said, his elbows propped wide on the little waist-high shelf of the pantry half door. "You're under a bit of a misapprehension. When Capt'n Whiting left the ship, him and me made a dicker. I bought the slops outright from him. They don't belong to you, sir, or to the ship."

"Serve the men," Naish said without emphasis. "When Alf comes back, have him call me. I shall be in my cabin."

He took out the crew's articles from among the rest of the ship's papers when he was in his cabin. Alf, he suspected, wouldn't be back for some time, and these he should have read before. No more than eight of the men who had signed the articles, the mates included, had been able to write their names. The rest had made their marks and beside the marks the Boston shipping commissioner had filled in the signatures. That was common practice. But the sums for which the men had agreed to work were incredibly small. Landsmen, and nobody among the fo'c'sle lot had been signed on above such a rating, received one 200th of the potential cargo. But the price of oil had already been established in the articles at 60 cents a gallon.

pretty much half of the price in the current market. A charge of 25 per cent of their share was also made for the cost of the medicine chest, the fitting out and discharging of the vessel.

A sweat of rage started on Naish's brow. His father and Phoebe's father would so willfully take from the earnings of ignorant men who had been herded into a vessel whose name or ports of call and work and purpose they had no idea. He didn't like it. In fact, he wasn't going to stand for it.

He went to find Alf.

He went forward along the larboard passageway past the mates' cabins to the quarters that Blageen shared with Alfred. Alfred was in the top bunk, his knees pulled up under him, his face set in an expression of profound sleep. He jerked Alfred by the ankle. "Give me the slops list," he said.

"The wot, sir?"

"You heard me." He and the boy eyed each other thoughtfully for a moment, then Alfred leaped down from the bunk. "Cruel sleepy, sir. Me uncle was talkin' me ear orf near throughout the night."

"Why is your uncle serving in a whaler?"

Alfred was in front of a bulkhead locker; he opened it and took from a strong box inside a stiff-backed notebook. "Carn't no more than guess, sir. But wot I eared around 'ome, he was in the Liverpool packers for some years. Chased 'im out. Smugglin', it might ha' been. Slippery is wot 'e is. Takin' advantage of a poor, innocent nipper like me."

"You'll get along," Naish said. "But 'e told me to make like I was sleepy, and 'e told me not to give yer this 'ere notebook."

"Get back in the bunk," Naish said. "The slops prices as marked in the notebook listed monkey jackets at $10 apiece. Those sold at about $6 at the best of shore prices. Jackknives which in Boston or Salem went for 20 cents here cost 50. Tobacco was double, and so were all the other items."

Most of the men had drawn complete outfits. Naish sat at the table until they had left. Then he motioned to Blageen. The steward's packet was a bit sweaty around the armpits, but it was his one sign of nervousness; he stood erect, his hands at his sides, before Naish.

"I'm buying the slops chest," Naish said.

"As you will, sir."

"I will all right," Naish put the notebook on the table. "How much did you charge Captain Whiting for it originally when the ship outfit- ted?"

"The total sum o' what's in the notebook you ave there, sir."

"Then we'll cut that figure in half. I've shipped in the fo'c'sle in my time. I've been forced to buy from sharpies like you. These lads shan't be stuck."

"Ain't a thing I can say ag'inst your authority, sir."

"No. And if you did, I might ask you if you sold the rum some of the afterguard lot were drinking last night after we were at sea."

"Don't believe none o' Alf's lies, sir. I brung him away wif me just because o' such. Me poor sister couldn't stand for 'is doings."

Naish put the notebook on the table. He took the pen and ink pot from the rack. "Sign here," he said. "I'll pay you in cash at the end of the voyage."

"It ain't right, sir," Blageen said. Blageen signed with tears in his eyes.

Expect 2,600,000 Aliens to Report Their Addresses

Commissioner J. M. Swing announced today the Immigration and Naturalization Service expects some 2,600,000 aliens to report their addresses in January under the 1956 Alien Address Report Program.

The Commissioner explained that under the 1952 Immigration and Nationality Act every alien in the United States must report his address to the Service each January.

More than 2,300,000 aliens filled out cards last January under the program, and the figure is expected to reach more than two and one-half million in 1956.

District Director Robert H. Robinson of the Chicago District of the Service said 237,086 aliens registered under the program in this District during January last year, and a slight increase is expected under the 1956 registration.

The immigration spokesman pointed out that every non-citizen (except persons in diplomatic status and foreign representatives assigned to the United Nations) in the United States must report his address to the Government each year in January.

He said each alien must fill out a registration card available at U. S. Post Offices or at the nearest immigration office.

Parents may fill out cards for their children under age 14. Legal guardians of aliens in custodial care should fill out the address reports for such persons.

Any alien who is ill may send a friend or relative to obtain the address report card for him, and return the card after it is filled out.

After filling out the card at a Post Office or immigration office, the alien then gives the card to a clerk, and he has fulfilled his obligation under the Act.

The spokesman warned that any alien who willfully violates the address report provision of the law may be fined up to $200, imprisoned for 30 days, and deported.

Christmas Trees
Worth 50 Million
In Use This Year

By GERALD BOWKETT
United Press Staff Correspondent
WASHINGTON — UP — Some 30,000,000 Christmas trees — with an estimated retail value of $50,000,000 — will be displayed in American homes this year, according to the Department of Agriculture.

Most of these are produced in states along the Canadian border. Montana, one of the leading producers, harvests approximately 3,000,000 trees annually under normal conditions.

More than 9,000,000 trees are imported each year from Canada — the only significant outside source. In past years, small numbers have been brought in from Newfoundland, Labrador and the Dominican Republic.

Eighty-seven per cent of U. S. production, estimated at 21,500,000 trees, comes from private land. The remainder is cut from federal, state and county property.

Plantations
While the bulk of the nation's Christmas trees grow in a natural state, about 1,500,000 are cultivated on plantations. About 100,000 acres — nearly half of which are in Pennsylvania — are now devoted to Christmas tree planting.

About a dozen companies are responsible for production and distribution of Christmas trees. Their representatives contract with woodland owners for tree delivery at roadside or railroad siding.

After shipment to urban areas, the trees are forwarded by wholesalers to the various retail outlets, an enterprise similar to that for distribution of other semi-perishable commodities.

THE HARRISBURG MOTOR HOTEL, located on Route 45 just east of Harrisburg, has recently completed an addition of ten units and now offers a total of 31 units for rent to the motoring public. The new units, of all brick construction, shown at left, connect with another five-unit addition. The motor hotel, which has been in operation for several years, first consisted of 16 units, built to the rear of the office and managers' apartment, shown at right in above picture. The latest addition was first occupied Monday, Nov. 28, and like all other units is completely modern in every respect. The new addition, built by Midland Construction Company of Harrisburg, is centrally heated and cooled and the system was installed by Kenneth Keith of Harrisburg. The motor hotel, largest in this area, is co-owned by Cecil Sullivan, Bob Miley and V. V. Brown, with Mr. and Mrs. Brown active as managers.

The department, which says "there is no best all-around Christmas tree species," lists the following characteristics as the most desirable:

1. Retention of needles from time of cutting through Christmas holidays.
2. Full, symmetrical shape.
3. Limb strength adequate to support ornaments and lights.
4. Sufficient non-prickly foliage of a healthy green color.
5. Fragrant odor.
6. Springy branches that can be tied for shipment without breaking and regain their shape when released.

Best Types
While no one tree is "best," there are several species which conform closely to the department's list of desirable characteristics.

The balsam fir, found in central and eastern U. S. Christmas tree markets, is the most commonly used tree. Its short, flat, dark green needles are attached to opposite sides of the tree limbs in a feather-like arrangement.

The Douglas fir's blue-green or dark yellow-green needles, soft and pliable, are attached all the way around the limb, giving it a bushier, fuller appearance. This tree, common in the west, is marketed nationally.

The black spruce, grown in the swampy areas of northern Minnesota, is a small, thickly-needled tree usually selected for coloring. Most of the colored trees seen on the market are of this variety.

There are a dozen other species in Christmas tree production, some of which have one or more undesirable characteristics. The white spruce, for example, while holding its needles well, gives off a disagreeable odor. And all of the five species of southern pine—loblolly, longleaf, slash, pitch and shortleaf—have prickly cones.

If you paid unusually high fuel bills last winter, your home may need additional insulation.

Crosley El Dorado

The World's Most Fabulous Television Receiver

Three years ago, a hand-picked body of brilliant engineers was assigned to the development of a television receiver — so powerful, so picture-perfect, so true in tone, that the possessor could proudly say, "I own the world's finest television receiver."

The CROSLEY EL DORADO is such a set!
It will excel deep in the heart of city canyons or far, far out in remote areas even where broadcast signal strength is timid and puny.

Its superior performance is unmatched. Its superlative beauty of cabinetry stands alone. Every set is practically custom built — every major component is hand selected — every cabinet is a work of art — and every EL DORADO is triple checked by quality control experts. And, because EL DORADO is designed only for those who demand the finest, it is available only in limited editions.

There will be only four EL DORADO models offered this year. They will consist of a magnificent phonograph-radio television combination, an exquisite traditional console with full doors, and two golden rich modern consoles with full doors — each excitingly different.

Because the 1956 CROSLEY EL DORADO is a limited edition, produced under the most careful manufacturing and exacting quality control, deliveries will be allocated. We can only say, however, that the CROSLEY EL DORADO is well worth waiting for.
